|| Astrophysics || NASA's Bennu Asteroid Sample Contains Carbon and Water: And Water Contains the Duo-Jewels of Life: Oxygen and Hydrogen: Already A School of Life ||

|| Sunday: October 15: 2023 || α. Initial studies of the 04.5-billion-year-old asteroid Bennu sample, collected in space and brought to Earth by NASA show evidence of high-carbon content and water, which together could indicate the building blocks of life on Earth may be found in the rock. NASA made the news Wednesday from its Johnson Space Centre in Houston where leadership and scientists showed off the asteroid material for the first time since it landed in September.

This finding was part of a preliminary assessment of NASA's Origins, Spectral Interpretation, Resource Identification and Security: Regolith Explorer: OSIRIS-Rex, science team. "The OSIRIS-Rex sample is the biggest carbon-rich asteroid sample ever delivered to Earth and will help scientists investigate the origins of life on our own planet for generations to come." Said NASA Administrator Bill Nelson. "Almost, everything we do at NASA, seeks to answer questions about who we are and where we come from.

NASA missions like OSIRIS-Rex will improve our understanding of asteroids, that could threaten Earth while giving us a glimpse into what lies beyond. The sample has made it back to Earth but, there is still so much science to come, science like we've never seen before."

Although, more work is needed to understand the nature of the carbon compounds found, the initial discovery bodes well for future analyses of the asteroid sample. The secrets held within the rocks and dust from the asteroid will be studied for decades to come, offering insights into how our solar system was formed, how the precursor materials to life may have been seeded on Earth and what precautions need to be taken to avoid asteroid collisions with our home planet.

The goal of the OSIRIS-Rex sample collection was 60 grams of asteroid material. Curation experts at NASA Johnson, working in new clean rooms built, especially, for the mission, have spent 10 days so far carefully disassembling the sample return hardware to obtain a glimpse at the bulk sample within. When the science canister lid was first opened, scientists discovered bonus asteroid material covering the outside of the collector head, canister lid and base. There was so much extra material it slowed down the careful process of collecting and containing the primary sample.

"Our labs were ready for whatever Bennu had in store for us." Said Vanessa Wyche, the Director, NASA Johnson. "We've had scientists and engineers working side-by-side for years to develop specialised glove-boxes and tools to keep the asteroid material pristine and to curate the samples so researchers now and decades from now, can study this precious gift from the cosmos."

Within the first two weeks, scientists performed quick-look analyses of that initial material, collecting images from a scanning electron microscope, infrared measurements, X-ray diffraction and chemical element analysis. X-ray computed tomography was, also, used to produce a three-D computer model of one of the particles, highlighting its diverse interior. This early glimpse provided the evidence of abundant carbon and water in the sample.

“As we peer into the ancient secrets preserved within the dust and rocks of asteroid Bennu, we are unlocking a time capsule, that offers us profound insights into the origins of our solar system.” Said Dante Lauretta, OSIRIS-REx Principal Investigator, the University of Arizona, Tucson. “The bounty of carbon-rich material and the abundant presence of water-bearing clay minerals are just the tip of the cosmic iceberg.

These discoveries, made possible through years of dedicated collaboration and cutting-edge science, propel us on a journey to understand not only our celestial neighbourhood but, also, the potential for life’s beginnings. With each revelation from Bennu, we draw closer to unravelling the mysteries of our cosmic heritage.”

For the next two years, the mission’s science team will continue characterising the samples and conduct the analysis needed to meet the mission’s science goals. NASA will preserve, at least, 70% of the sample at Johnson for further research by scientists worldwide, including future generations of scientists.

As part of OSIRIS-REx’s science programme, a cohort of more than 200 scientists around the world will explore the regolith’s properties, including researchers from many US institutions, NASA partners Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency(JAXA), Canadian Space Agency:CSA and other scientists from around the world. Additional samples will, also, rbe loaned later this fall to the Smithsonian Institution, Space Centre Houston and the University of Arizona for public display.

NASA’s Goddard Space Flight Centre in Greenbelt, Maryland, provides overall mission management, systems engineering and the safety and mission assurance for OSIRIS-REx. Lauretta, the Principal Investigator, leads the science team and the mission’s science observation planning and data processing. Lockheed Martin Space in Littleton, Colorado, built the spacecraft, provided flight operations and was responsible for capsule recovery. Goddard and KinetX Aerospace were responsible for navigating the OSIRIS-REx spacecraft. Curation for OSIRIS-REx, including processing the sample when it arrived on Earth, is taking place at NASA Johnson.

The Building-Block Foundational Human Rights

- A: Absolute Right to Live in Clean, Healthy, Safe and Natural Environment
- B: Absolute Right to Breathe Natural, Fresh, Clean and Safe Air
- C: Absolute Right to Necessary Nutritional Balanced Food and Drink
- D: Absolute Right to Free Medical Care at the Point of Need
- E: Absolute Right to an Absolute Home

F: Absolute Right to Free Degree-Level Education and Life Long Learning
G: Absolute Right to Guaranteed Social Care
H: Absolute Right to a Universal Income
I: Absolute Right to a Job
J: Absolute Right to Dignified Civic and Human Funeral Paid Through by Universal Income

The world has, apparently, accepted that Capitalism is the High Pinnacle of All Systems and, some still dream that Marxism will rescue humanity from this Killing Mechanism Capitalism, we refuse to subscribe to that. Humanics is the Post-Marxist and Post-Capitalistic World View of What Humanity can be and what it can do and how infinitely better a human condition can be created in a Humanical Society, by eradicating ownership and money and by establishing belongingship in human enterprise, setting all humans at liberty and equality under the rule of law in natural justice with a direct form of democracy, humanics calls it, Humanicsovics, in which, each human soul is her:his own High Representative. In this, Humanics is the Minority Vision and we do not and can not expect millions and billions of people supporting our vision today but We Whole-Heartedly Believe That ONE DAY This Humanity Shall BE ALL HUMANICAL: By When: We Know Not But This: That Being a Monstrous

Killing Mechanism Capitalism IS Unsustainable: The World Shall Change One Day and Every Change Begins with an Idea, with a Vision:

We invite you to Envision the Vision and Philosophy of Humanics and Support The Humanion, The Humanion Portable and The Foundation to Keep Taking Forward the Vision and Philosophy of Humanics, to Keep on Challenging Capitalism's Poverty Paradigm, for an Infinitely Better Humanity in an Infinitely Better Human Condition for All Humanity Across Mother Earth. Thank You.
